

Las Cruces, New Mexico

(Flood control construction)

The project is located in Las Cruces, New Mexico, 40 miles north of El Paso, Texas.

The project enlarged and modified two existing detention basins and an irrigation ditch, providing increased flood protection to the downtown commercial and residential district of Las Cruces.

The project was completed in February 2002. The dedication ceremony was held on March 7, 2002.

